Ski, sliding and snowboard in Edmundston

The international students participated in the first group activity at Mount Farlagne the weekend of February 16 to 18.

Some of them got to try a winter sport for the first time (ski, snowboard, sliding). From its height of 352 metres, this mountain located in Edmundston offers 22 trails for skiing, snowboarding and even tubing. Snowshoeing trails also go around the beautiful mountain.

Sylvie Landry, homestay coordinator for the region and event organizer, says that the students enjoyed the weekend activities.

"It was a good time. Some kids had never skied before and seemed to like the speed."

The students got to spend time with friends they made during the orientation weekend in September and make new friendships as well.

A second group activity organized by the program will take place at Snider Mountain Ranch in June. ★

Fleur de Jonge, from Belgium and attending the Polyvalente Louis-Mailloux in Caraquet, got to skate on the Pokemouche River in December with her host family. ★

Sliding at Mont Farlagne for the students from Edmundston, Grand Falls and St-Quentin in January. ★

A beautiful day for ice fishing on the Restigouche River for Samantha Gonzalez Munoz, who is from Mexico and attending the Polyvalente Roland-Pépin (9th grade). ★

Winter sports in New Brunswick

Emir Atli and Emre Bengü from Turkey are members of the École Sainte-Anne boys' basketball team, Les Castors. For the first time, a French school team has qualified for the New Brunswick Interscholastic Athletic Association Basketball Championship. An article was written about them in the newspaper. ★

Andrés Torres Gomez from Columbia (grade 11 at L'Odysée) received his yellow belt in karate. The picture shows him accompanied by his host parents, Denise and Emmanuel LeBlanc. ★

Sports at school or with the family

Chiara Morelli, grade 12 at École Mathieu-Martin, is part of the school's girls' volleyball team who won first place in a tournament in Halifax, Nova Scotia last February. ★

Alejandra Gonzalez Valdes from Mexico (wearing No. 14 in the photo) is the youngest student of the program this year. She is in the 8th grade at Carrefour de l'Acadie and plays for the girls' school volleyball team. ★

Iva Marugg from Switzerland spent the Holidays in New Brunswick with her host mothers Cecilia Harding and Marie-Louisa Légère. Iva is a grade 11 student at École Clément-Cormier in Bouctouche. ★

At the Polyvalente Roland-Pépin in Campbellton, a farewell ceremony took place on January 22 for students leaving after the first semester. Alexander Jenkins from Australia and Mariana Gomez from Mexico both enjoyed their stay and made some friendships and memories they will cherish forever. Alexander, who arrived in November, says: “Three months go by really fast.” ★

Members of Lene Schuurmans' host family were at the airport to greet her when she arrived in January. Lene is in the 11th grade at Cité des Jeunes A.-M.-Sormany. ★
